Charge Against Dog-Catcher. Henry Townsend, the colored dog-catcher, was arrested last night by Chief Haglund, charged with abusing his office by selling some of the dogs he caught instead of delivering at the pen, where they are kept for redemption or destruction. In the Police Court this morning Townsend was convicted in two cases and fined $15. The catcher was making an apparently good thing out of his office outside of what he was paid by the city.

John Harris, a negro with several aliases, was taken handcuffed to Lynchburg this morning to answer the charge of car-breaking and robbery in that city. Harris was arrested there last evening in a request from the Hill City authorities.

A Peculiar Case. A neatly dressed colored girl, giving her names as Mary Jones or Mabel Wilson, was arrested last evening on charges of stealing about $50 worth of clothing and other articles from the homes of two colored women, which she was trying to dispose of. In the Police Court this morning she became apparently insane, instead of being charged with the commission of a crime. She knew nothing of any one with whom she had lived here or to whom the alleged stolen property belonged.

LYNCHBURG ELKS AT BEDFORD CITY

About Two Hundred Members of Order Visit the National Home.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Bedford City, Va., June 18.—Lynchburg day was very pleasantly inaugurated to-day by the visit of about 200 Elks of Lynchburg to the National Home here. They arrived this morning on a special train at 9:15 o'clock, accompanied by a full orchestra. The welcoming committee of the home, John Meyer, of the Detroit Lodge, chairman; Dexter B. Hodgett, Chicago; William G. Dodd, Danville Lodge, met them at the train and escorted them to the home, where Chairman J. Tanner Kinneer, as the representative of Lodge 3221, of the city, presiding, Superintendent Charles L. Mosby, who read the address of welcome prepared by Major John E. Burk, of New York Lodge, now on a visit to that city, in which he gracefully presented a beautifully decorated key of the home. The key was feebly received by Fred Harper on behalf of the Lynchburg lodge.

Among the visitors were some of the most prominent professional and business men of that city, and the day was a most notable occasion, and highly appreciated by the residents of the home, of whom there are about seventy.

WILL ENFORCE LAWS AGAINST GAMBLING

King Alfonso Responsible for Closing of Establishment at San Sebastian.

BY LA MARQUISE DE PONTENROY. KING ALFONSO and his mother, Queen Maria Christina, have at length succeeded in having their way, and in deference to their persistent pressure the Spanish government has agreed to close the immediate closing of the great public gambling establishments at San Sebastian. Known as the Casino, it was situated about the year 1905 by the objectionable marquet, after he had been compelled by the Belgian government and legislature to close his gambling place at Ostend, in spite of his possessing the silent support of the late King Leopold II.

His wondrous bribery was able to secure a footing at San Sebastian from the venal municipality and naturally attracted to this watering place, which for twenty years or more had been the favorite summer resort of the King and his mother, all the sum and riff-raff of Europe, for whom even Monte Carlo was too decent and respectable.

Their presence naturally spoiled San Sebastian for the court and the royal family to such an extent that the King declared that if that sort of thing continued, he would cease going there.

When the gambling establishment was first instituted, the government of the day turned a deaf ear to the royal protests, insisting that political considerations rendered it impossible for it to offend the city authorities of San Sebastian by its enforcement there of the anti-gambling laws. Fortunately, the present Premier, Canalejas, is himself strong enough to deal with the situation in accordance with the law of the land and the wishes of his sovereign.

As for Monte Carlo, it is reaping so great a harvest from the tables which under the weak administration of Sir Eldon Gorst he was permitted to establish, that he can afford to regard with indifference the closing of his Casino at San Sebastian. His one dread now is that Lord Kitchener may drive him out and that he may be obliged to fall back upon his only resource, gambling halls, namely, those in Portugal, which date from the beginning of the republican regime.

Ex-President Cipriano Castro of Venezuela is expected these days at Berlin at the private hospital of Professor Ratzel, the great surgeon, where he was operated on in January, 1909, and where he is once more to be submitted to the knife. Just at present Castro is residing at his villa at Santa Cruz, near the village of Valencia. His attempt last year to re-establish his dictatorship in Venezuela signally failed, and his expectation that his country would rise in his support as soon as he had entered by way of Colombian territory, was doomed to disappointment. It is a matter of fact, both American and English warships were then hunting the Caribbean for his armed steamer, "Consul Gruesnick."

South America, both in regard to treat him and his followers as pirates. The venture cost him a great deal of money, but taught him a well needed lesson, and the fact that his failing health makes it unlikely that he will ever again become a factor in South American politics.

Despite the attempts to ridicule the Order of St. Michael and St. George, which has just been conferred upon four distinguished Canadians, was founded in 1818, for the purpose of honoring the British dignitaries of Malta and the Ionian Islands, both of which were at that time British possessions. To-day it has become the principal colonial order, and is used by the sovereign to acknowledge services, both colonial and diplomatic, abroad. About seven years ago the members of the order subscribed towards the construction of a suitable chapel in St. Paul's cathedral, and it is well worth a visit. Up to that time the order had no chapel of its own. There are stalls for all the Knights Grand Cross of the Order, carved of teak in a style harmonizing with the design of the cathedral. In the center, at the west end, is the seat of the sovereign, surmounted by the royal arms. There are a hundred stalls in all, surrounded by canopies of carved teakwood of the same design, and from each canopy hangs the banner of a Knight. Regarding the new Canadian Knights, two of them, namely, Rodmond Palen Robin, Premier of Manitoba, and Richard McBride, Premier of British Columbia, are made knight commanders of the order; and the other two, John McDougall, of the Department of Justice, and James A. Macdonald, of the Department of Mines, are appointed companions of the order. (Copyright, 1912, by the Brentwood Company.)
